Quantity: 2 feet, 6 inches (2 record carton boxes)

Description

Batya Goldman is the creator of the Chicago zine, U-Direct, and she initiated the first Underground Press Conference in 1994. Goldman was very involved in the zine world and ran her own small-press, Mary Kuntz Press, which released zines such as Pseudo Cop, Sunset at Oval Beach, and Wet Male. She donated her personal collection of zines to DePaul University's Special Collections in 1997. This collection is composed mainly of Comic and Poetry zines but also includes zines on other subjects such as Art, Culture, Erotica, Literature, Music, Personal, zine related Resources, Social/Political issues, and Special Interests. Though zines in both Culture and Personal have similar contents those categorized as Culture have multiple authors while Personal zines appear to have been created by one author.
